

Puzzled Pint July 2012

Candy Time

The party should be almost over before you attempt this one. How does it all fit together? Some might call the task mind boggling.

[Note: instead of the image below, participants received an actual strip of button candy with the letters written in. Colors are irrelevant, as the players discovered when they looked at other teams' button candy.]

