

THESEUS AND THE MINOTAUR

The tale of the Minotaur is well-known in Greco-Roman mythology. Every year, Aegeus, the King of Athens, must send human sacrifices to King Minos of Crete to feed the monstrous Minotaur. This year, Theseus, King Aegeus's son, volunteers to be one of the sacrifices. Theseus plans to kill the Minotaur, but he's having trouble finding it within the complex maze where it is imprisoned. Can you help him?

- Theseus took a path that wound through all 9 regions of the maze.
- Theseus never walked over a space that he had already been on.
- The maze is a 3 by 3 grid. Cut out the pieces to assemble. Tape may be helpful.
