

Plato, Aristotle, Socrates...Morons!

Iocane powder is odorless, tasteless, dissolves instantly in liquid, and is among the more deadly poisons known to man. Similarly, there are eight deadly poisons concealed in the following statements. Enter their names in the blanks, and then write out the selected letters, in order, to discover Vizzini's answer to the poison predicament.

I have the rare genius that enables me to sum up people immediately, to know everything about them in a single glance. This apercu rarely proves wrong, and I judge you to be brash and overconfident, not afraid to gamble, so I can clearly not choose the wine in front of you.
