

The Corruption

We thought everything was over, but recently we've noticed an infestation of bugs in the archives. They're hard to spot, since they like to hide between things, and they're usually missing a piece or two, but they're there.

We've spotted these bugs...

- An insect that produces a foul smell when crushed
- An insect that you might find on your dog
- A stinging insect that shares its name with a basketball team
- An insect known for being Very Hungry
- A web-spinner that's not technically an insect
- An small insect sharing something in common with the gnu
- An insect that kids are told not to let bite
- An insect which lives for only about two days

...hiding somewhere in these things.

- A tooth ending in two points (8)
- Brass instrument (6 4)
- Molten rock (5)
- Move for a job, perhaps (8)
- "That's hilarious," for texters (4)
- Omen or advertisement (4)
- What you might be asked to do at the end of a YouTube video (9)
- What you might be told after not showering (3 5)
- Blacksmith's working surface (5)
- Military trumpet (5)
- Airborne (6)
- Columns or community supporters (7)
- Makeshift boat (4)
- Dangerous storm in the title of a Shakespeare play (7)
- Aerial circus attraction (7)
- The ___ Duckling (4)

This threat may not be over. What do we need to do, just in case the Dread Powers return?

